

National Weather Service Wilmington, NC

Outlook Period: This Weekend 2/9-2/10

Time Issued: Today 2/8

Falling Temperatures Tonight to Usher In a Chilly Weekend

Overview:

Cold sunshine early Saturday will be met with gusty and biting N-NE winds , bringing about a big change, from the spring-like highs around 80 degrees this afternoon, to a wind-chill near 30 degrees Saturday morning!

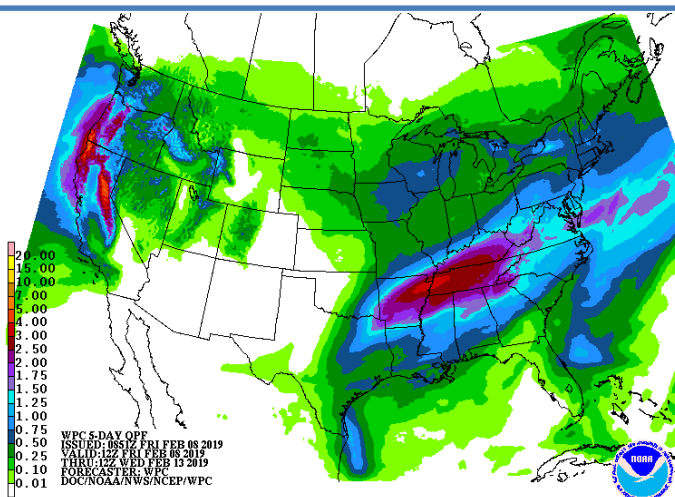

Clouds will begin filling the skies late Saturday and Sunday, leading to wet conditions late Sunday through Monday with ¼ - ½ inch of rain expected for most spots.

Maximum temperatures Saturday 48-53

Minimum temperatures Sunday morning 27-34

Maximum temperatures Sunday 47-56

Minimums early Monday with periods of rain 41-47

Even though wet conditions are forecast early next week, total rainfall out through next Wednesday morning, shows minimal amounts along the eastern Carolinas, with a bit more as you go inland.

For the latest updates, please visit our website and social media outlets:

www.weather.gov/ilm

fb.com/nswilmingtonnc

@NWSWilmingtonNC