

National Weather Service Wilmington, NC

Outlook Period: Fri Jan 10, 2020 – Mon Jan 13, 2020
Time Issued: 10AM EST Jan 10th 2020

Prepared by: Victoria Oliva
Forecaster #: 910-762-4289

Overview: Cold front approaches the area late Saturday before stalling on Sunday. Rain chances increase late Saturday through Monday, with chance of thunderstorms. Unseasonably warm temperatures today through mid-week.

Primary Threat: Marginal Risk for isolated severe weather late Saturday, after 8pm, through Sunday. Primary threat will be gusty winds.

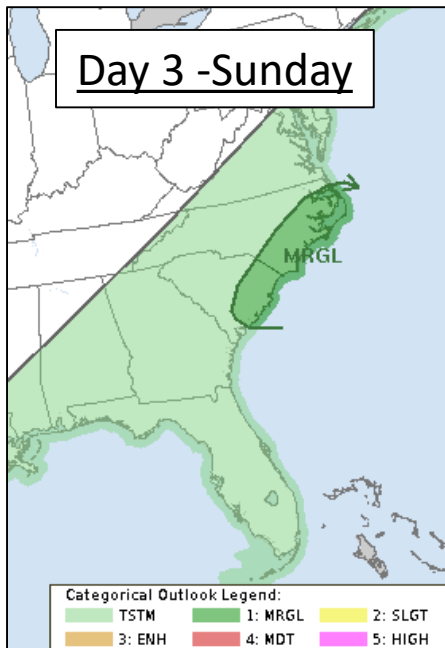

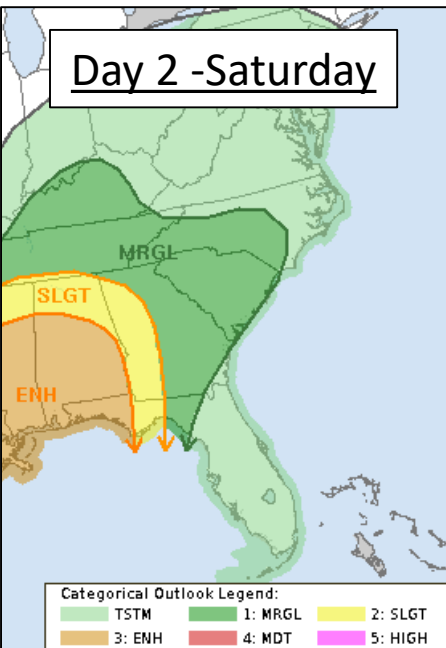

Impacts: Isolated thunderstorms possible Saturday night through Monday. Small Craft Advisory in effect for coastal waters 10pm tonight through 6pm Sunday. Sea fog may develop Saturday night through Tuesday.

Other: Storm total rainfall through Monday is 0.25"-0.5" on average.

SPC Convective Outlooks

Day 2 -Saturday

Day 3 -Sunday

Today/Tonight
70° 58°		12% 12% SE 6 - 10 G20 Mostly Cloudy
Sat	Sun	Mon
Gusty
76° 65° 40% 75%	74° 62° 75% 70%	72° 60° 75% 80%
S 15 - 20 G30	SW 10 - 15 G25	SW 4 - 8
Inland Areas
Today/Tonight
67° 59°		11% 11% SE 8 - 12 G20 Mostly Cloudy
Sat	Sun	Mon
Breezy	Breezy
73° 66° 30% 60%	73° 63° 60% 50%	70° 62° 75% 75%
S 15 - 20 G25	SW 15 - 20 G25	SW 5 - 9
Coastal Areas

Inland Areas

Coastal Areas

For the latest updates, please visit our website and social media outlets: